Welcome!

I'm glad you've found me. I am passionate about helping couples who are divorcing or on the brink of divorce. I provide several related services:

Discernment Counseling

If your relationship is on the brink of divorce, Discernment Counseling is the service for you. Maybe you've tried several rounds of couples counseling without change. Maybe you need reassurance that you've tried everything you can. Maybe you think your relationship could be saved but your spouse is skeptical. Or maybe you are the skeptical partner. Discernment Counseling takes an honest assessment of what has happened in the relationship and focuses on getting clarity about the relationship's future.

Mediation

For those who have decided to divorce, some divorces can be negotiated in mediation. I am a family law mediator. Let me know if this is a service you are interested in. I can help you or refer you to other local mediators.

Collaborative Divorce

If you and your spouse are divorcing, you might consider collaborative divorce. This is a process that helps people divorce in a gentler way. Years of hostility and hard feelings can be minimized or prevented. The difference this can make for any children you have is enormous.

If you'd like to schedule a consultation or receive more information, contact me. I can walk you through your options and help bring clarity in a challenging time. I'd love to help!

Whatever path you choose, be well.
